INTRODUCTION

There was a village named Rampura in Mysore.

Lakshamma, a mother who lived by her three sons and four daughters.

Main Character: Elder Son Sham

Second Son Ram

Third Son Mohan

Plot – this story describes the problems faced by Sham, elder son of Lakshamma. Concerned about his family, brothers, sisters and a development of a religious temple in the village.

Lakshamma's Husband was deceased long ago. And as Lakshamma was growing old and not educated. Her elder son Sham had to take upon the responsibility of the whole family. He was intelligent and as he was very much educated and was in a good job. Then after two years sham got married to a girl named Anjali who was from Hoskote. Anjali's family was also quite rich and all the jewelry and other needed things were given to her by her family after the wedding.

After Sham got married. he was concerned in getting his brothers and sisters married and giving them a responsible life. Sham spent for all the marriages till everyone got married and family was nice to some and then the controversy started in the family.

The mother was also in favor of her younger son and she did not like Sham even though he has done so much for the family the mother used always.

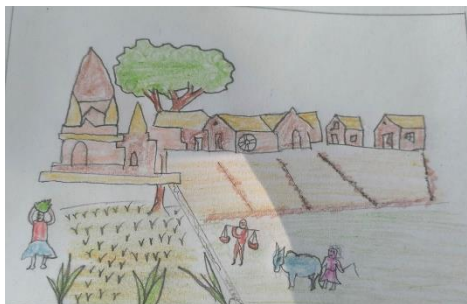

Find faults in sham and used to say he would cheat his brothers and sisters in the property. Matters and would take away all the property some was very nice person and he had no such intentions after the own mother spoke like this sham felt very bad and asked if I had such intentions then why will I do their marriages and see the well-being then because of his mother all the brother and sisters also started hating Sham.

Sham used to always do good things to them, he never cared for what they spoke but he cared for them and their property was in joint but individually he gave independent sharing of amount of rent even to his brothers. They all three divided the rent equally and from sham's share only he even gave it to his sisters. They all used to receive the amount and live happily.

One day their mother fell sick and was hospitalized. She was serious and also in the hospital for around 10 days but she couldn't recovery her illness and she expired at the age of 82 years. All the ceremonies and functions were performed and everyone got divided and started to stay independently. Even if they were divided Sham only used to look after all the property issues.

By Listening to the other people talks in the village the two brothers started fighting with Sham for property and division. Sham became very upset and they all became very much enemies. Ram and Mohan were very close and they filed a case against sham. Sham was very good man by heart and he always believed in truth. Sham left them and became very strong and he also fought against them legally in the court.

Sham was in good terms with the villagers so the villagers forced sham to build a Hanuman temple in the village. Sham also agreed for this. They all had been to Tamilnadu to book the statue made out of single stone. Some of the villagers were good to Sham but some were not good and they always wanted bad to happen. So, in the village they all planned to oppose the placing of hanuman statue and even brothers of Sham also supported the villagers in not placing the Hanuman statue.. Even this was being a criminal case against Sham but Sham was very strong and came out of this case and then he built the temple and he finished and opened the temple.

Sham alone fought for everything even his own brothers did not support him. Sham didn't bother what his brother did but he never did any bad or cheated his brothers in any way. Sham was very good hearted person. Then all the poojas and festivals and even distribution of food was very nicely taking place in the temple.

Every week around 2000 people were coming from in and around the village would come and take the food. Sham without his knowledge became a social worker and gained good name and fame in the village and even in and around other districts. Sham also help poor children with their school fees.

Sham also started distributing books to government school children in that district Sham became good in the eyes of everyone but his brothers never changed they never helped in anyway or supported him. They filed a case and used to submit all the wrong evidences in the court. The judge also came to know that they were uneducated and they cannot fight this case and ask them to compromise but they never listened and they are still fighting the case.

One day two brothers asked their sisters to go to Sham's house and tell they are in trouble and they need help as they don't have anyone to help them. But Sham this time was clever and did not help them and asked them to go to their other brothers as they all are one. Then they told Sham is very bad and cunning as he didn't help his sisters even when they are in trouble. In the village all the people thought Sham is also bad as he didn't help his sisters.

Then slowly the brothers Ram and Mohan also realized that their brother Sham had not done anything bad to them because of Sham only we have come to this stage or else we could not have lead such a comfort or luxurious life. Then they also came for a compromise in the court they bowed down to Sham and said here after we will listen and agree to whatever you tell regarding the property matter and we will agree for the share. For what you will give to us, we will not demand anything, as we know that you will not cheat us.

SUMMARY AND CONCLUSION

All the three brothers now use to run the temple and now they became strong and confident and no one could point out at them in any way. This is the true story but I have manipulated some incidents.

From this we learn that we need to be united and cooperation among each other so that no one will point on us. Where there is unity there is strength.

BLURB

My book tells about how the people should be united and lead the life in cooperation with each other. In the beginning all the three brothers were in quarrel with each other and had lot of misunderstanding. The elder brother went into social work and gained name and fame. After some years even the younger brothers mingled with their elder brother and did all the work together.
