

The weight of the world

By Yuvahari.s

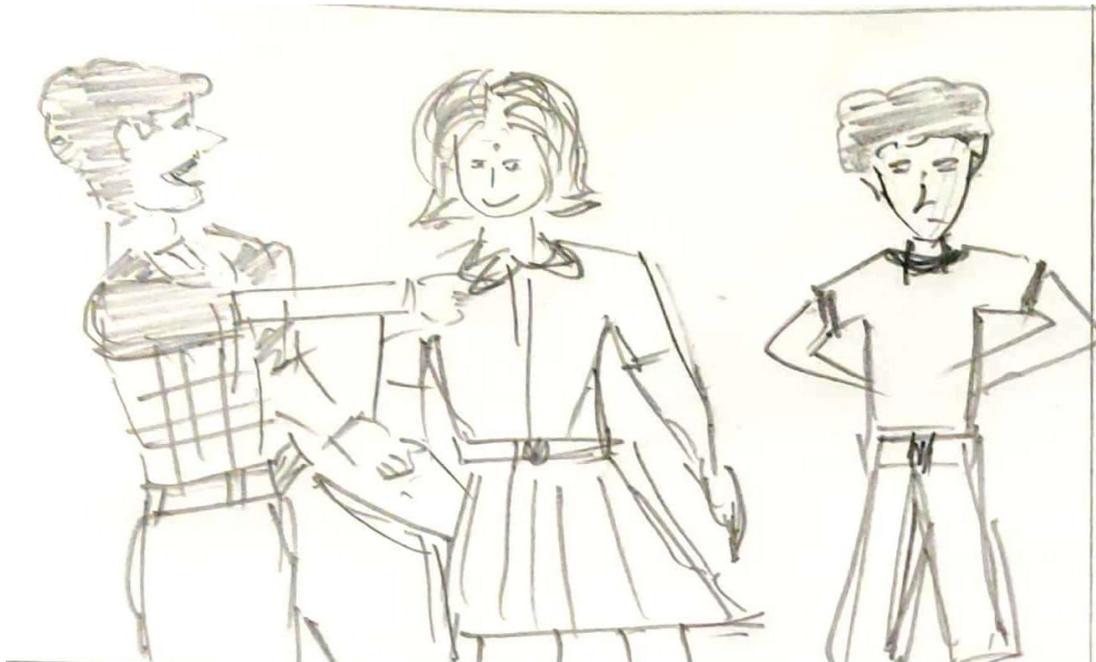

Contents

- The beginning 2
 - The weight and job 3
 - Spill the beans 4
 - Let it out 5
 - About the Author 6
-

Chapter 1

The beginning

Three teens studying in New York City, USA named Vishal, Priya and Natarajan are friends. One day Natarajan realizes that his parents Radha and Dev (names) have been quarreling and arguing frequently for the past month and gets worried that they might get a divorce. He goes to the school ground and says to his friends, Priya and Vishal that he has a problem not specifically mentioning it .Both of them think for a while before answering him.

Chapter 2

The weight and job

Vishal suggests for him to consult the school supporter and he did. Then instead of telling him what the issue was, he asked for a job as an assistant supporter. He got the job and told his friends it went just fine. The next day after school he went to the supporter and he asked him not to give others advice but to share their burden. Natarajan said, "alright". A person came to him saying he was so confused that he wrote the short form of water in his exam as O^2H instead of H^2O . Instead of doing what he was told (to share the burden) he did what he wasn't supposed (to give advice) and the advice was to just stay calm, relax and take deep breaths. Later on his confusion would have gone. That day he came back and said "thanks, it worked" Natarajan said "you're welcome" similarly another half of the school who had problems started to come to him. But his friends smelled something fishy. And he was still carrying the weight that his parents might get divorced.

Chapter 3

Spill the beans

Natarajan's friends feel it's time to ask him what's going on. Later that week they do??. He says absolutely nothing. Priya says, "we can help you only if you tell us". So he spills the beans saying instead of asking for help from the supporter he asked for the pose of an assistant. Both of them stood awestruck. You didn't ask for help! They said in union. He said "yes?" after a few seconds they saw that a spoon and a pencil got attracted to him. Vishal asked if he was magnetic. He replies saying why would a pencil get attracted too? Priya said "you got your own gravity"!Natarajan asked, what's the worst this can get to? Priya said you'll attract things until you become so big that you cover the whole world until you don't have anything else to attract. Afterwards you'll collapse and become a black hole. That's the worst that WILL happen. Vishal asks if he has some problem that's stresses him out. He says, "Yes. I think my parents are getting divorced". Priya says go tell your parents how you feel.as soon as she said that he rushed to the nearest subway station, the Wall Street station and booked the next ticket to the natural history museum station.

CS Scanned with CamScanner

Chapter 4

Let it out

He took off the spoon and pencil from his body and rushed to the railway platform and managed to catch a train with the doors just closing. He stood and waited until he arrived at his stop he ran to his house and then again he saw his parents quarreling yet again. Once the quarrel was over he went and asked them if they are getting divorced. His mom asked “why do you even think of such horrible things” Natarajan replied “because both of you have been quarreling for the past two months so I was afraid that you might declare a divorce and I’ll be forced to live with only one of you .his dad replied saying that we may argue and quarrel every now and then but it doesn’t mean something that bad. Finally the weight of the burden giving him gravity was lifted and he felt really good .The next day his friends asked him how things went and Vishal mentioned that he needs to tell the truth. He replied saying it went well. Just before he could forget Vishal grabbed a piece of paper and kept it near Natarajan and it didn’t get attracted, so he was really telling the truth. All of them felt really happy and lived happily ever after.

About the Author

Yuvahari is a passionate young author with lots of creativity and imaginations. He reads regularly various category of books and listens to audiobooks as well. He is blogging regularly on various topics of his interest. He has a well-developed public speaking and storytelling skills. I'm sure that the readers of this book would enjoy his style of writing and his storyline. Pls give him a feedback for him to improve his writing skills. Thanks – Siva (Father)

BLURB

Three friends, Vishal, Priya and Natarajan are in NYC, USA and one day Natarajan develops his own gravity. How do they bring him back to normal? Read on to know more.

In this book, Yuvahari takes you on an arresting tour that takes you to such a place that is very special. A time where humans can gain gravity and doing the wrong thing has benefits. Only those who dare to read can read this book.

If you would like to give direct feedback please go to yuvaharis.blogspot.com and comment.

